

Review of the Financial Sustainability of GROH

Government Regional Officers' Housing (GROH) provides housing to government employees in regional WA who deliver key services to regional and remote populations in over 250 locations. With the economic growth of WA and the significant expansion of regional centres in the State, the Department of Housing and Works (DHW) recognises a need for future housing stock to cope with demand. Pracsys was engaged in a review and advisory capacity to undertake a high level role of planning, supervision review and quality assurance.

Outcome

The purpose of the review is to determine the most appropriate and financially effective model for delivery of housing to government employees over the long term. The outputs of this project include the delivery of a set of recommendations highlighting any necessary reforms to enable DHW to identify, facilitate and provide ongoing support to achieve long-term financial sustainability, viability and growth in the delivery of housing to government employees in Western Australia. Pracsys was also integral to the development of the financial and economic modelling which supported this review.
